Why Buy Local?

Support yourself

When you buy from an independent, locally owned business, significantly more of your money is used to make purchases from other local businesses, service providers and farms -- continuing to strengthen the economic base of the community.

Create more good jobs

Small local businesses are the largest employer nationally and in our community, provide the most jobs to residents.

Get better service

Local businesses often hire people with a better understanding of the products they are selling and take more time to get to know customers.

Invest in community

Local businesses are owned by people who live in this community, are less likely to leave, and are more invested in the community's future.

Put your taxes to good use

Local businesses in town centers require comparatively little infrastructure investment and make more efficient use of public services.

Hello Again,

Well — another week has come and gone.

It's often said gaining intelligence is a direct product of experience. With that thought in mind, I decided there would be some sort of intellectual gain by having breakfast at the Hungry Bear near St. Johnsville. Seated at the U-shaped counter surrounded by the famous, possibly infamous 5 Stooges would give me — with my one good ear, an earful. This group would offer up some of the finest bull-larney, half-truths, truths and plenty of believe-it-if-you-cans. They are too American to specialize in Irish blarney. If you need some pure unadulterated Irish blarney, you will have to trust that to the 'ole master of Hello Again.

The meeting was called to order by Jim, who asked for any new business. The chicken man said his new flock of chickens were not laying eggs and wondered why. Bob, an occasional addition to the 5 Stooges (he is actually well informed on whale catching,) suggested the use of a high-pressure air gun, which would pop the eggs out. His motion did not get a second.

Being an occasional visitor with the Stooges, I asked a question which did not reach the floor. "Is it possible that all of his chickens are actually roosters?" My thought was how could the chicken man know for sure.

I wanted to suggest he place each of his birds on a fence post before sun-up and listen — if they clucked, they were the egg-makers. If they crowed, get out the BBQ sauce. By that time the Stooges were talking about a Russian castle just down the road from the Russian monastery in Jordanville and the Irish castle near Fairfield. I never knew about either of the castles, so the little Red Spyder has got some traveling to do. If you know about either of these castles, please send information to Hello Again.

Most Old Time Valley folk know about St. Johnsville's famous Beardslee Castle. Beardslee is well-known for good food, great atmosphere and sighting of ghosts. If it is truly an Irish castle, you will probably find the ghost down in the booze cellar.

You do not have to visit Ireland, England or Europe to visit castles. We have three authentic-looking ones right here at home.

Fresh off the ocean liner from Ireland, Pat arrived in the Mohawk Valley on an Erie-or-barge canal flat boat.

In the old country he was respected as a polished slight of hand magician. When asked by a Herkimer County farmer what he actually did for a living, he said "My act is the best. I trick hundreds of people every night. I create a big hoopla and then cause hundreds of dollars to disappear." With a humph, the distracted farmer said, "We have plenty of your kind in both Albany and Washington, D.C. We don't need another."

Money talks — some have too much and others too little. When I was in college, money was scarce as hens' teeth. The little I had was kept in a local bank so I could not foolishly spend it until it was needed.

One day while at the bank to draw out $50.00, I said to the lady teller, "Ma'am, I believe you made a mistake." In a very haughty way, she said, "Young man, I do not make mistakes. We do not make mistakes," and then moaned something about college kids.

That same day at Ma-moo's boarding house, I got a phone call from that same lady teller. "Mr. Lee, when you were at the bank this afternoon, did I give you $20 too much?" I replied, "No Ma'am. I learned at your bank that you do not make mistakes.” The next time I visited the bank, she was sweet as apple pie — she did not get back her $20 bill and I learned a lesson worth much more than $20.

I believe the lesson I learned was about aging. At 2:00 p.m. I was a young man and at 4:00 p.m. I had already become Mr. Lee. I wonder what I did with that 20 dollars. Probably it went the same way as money goes for teenagers today with one possible exception: “I had to earn mine.”

My wife is home again. Don’t tell her but I intentionally burned the bottom of her favorite frying pan. That ought to learn her. Her place is barefooted in our kitchen and not gallivanting by Southwest all over the country.

This does however remind me of the sticker she placed on the fridge. “My husband told me I would have to give up shopping or he will leave me. Boy, I am going to miss him.” Do you think it might pay to read between the lines?” You know, good apple pie makers are hard to come by. I would like to report on some good news coming out of Washington and/or Albany. I will try again next week.

I just had three fantastic thoughts for humor sakes. Let’s imagine that Hillary Clinton, the former presidents’ wife and Secretary of State, and Governor Cuomo decided to run for the office of President of the United States. Can you imagine how much they know about each other and how afraid they would be to use any of it?

How is that old saying, something about the pot calling the stove black? Now how about a double confugalty? Can you imagine the problems National Public Radio and the liberal daily newspapers would share? I guess they could continue in their well-established way. They could lie about both of them and blame former President Bush or the Republican party.

Thought number two:

I do not believe that any reader of any daily newspapers and those who listen to the National Public Radio can deny the lopsided news reports and opinion columns are slanted in favor of President Obama and the Democrat party, completely failing to report the conservative and Republican points of view.

Now here is my point — all conservative believers should send a letter to both NPR and their local daily newspaper stating, “If you do not clean up your act and treat all news — whether Democrat or Republican — socialist or conservative-leaning absolutely fair and equal, we, I, am going to cancel my subscription or turn off your radio station.

A few thousand and maybe only a few hundred cancellations and those publishing houses will gain a new religion. When the buck is no longer passing their way, a brand new religion will be born.

They now mock the words, “Be born again.” They will become believers in fairness when their pocket books start to empty out.

Can you imagine what a smart-mouthed socialist-leaning writer will say and do when his employer says, “We can’t use you anymore. You have turned off too many subscriber-readers.”

When we look at something beautiful or see and feel the sunshine remember at one time there was nothing. Then God, our Heavenly Father through Jesus Christ created everything, including you and me. In the final analysis there are not several right ways to live our lives and be a part of this nation. There is only one way: God’s way.

The little red Spyder asked me to say hello. Wave when we go honking along. God bless you every day. Please visit church on Sunday.

To Town of Palatine Taxpayers

The Palatine Town Council has struggled for over 10 years, trying to convince themselves that we need a new town hall, situated by the Town Barn in Stone Arabia.

Despite the lack of logic, the present Council has finally decided to move ahead with projected plans for a $600,000 (or more!), bare-bones, conservatively constructed wood frame building.

The aforementioned missing logic includes:

1. There are no mandates or laws requiring this hall be built. Yes, there are guidelines, but no mandates.
2. There is no ground swell of taxpaying constituents asking that this hall be built.
3. And most importantly, and this is a credit to the people housed in the current hall, the appointed work does get done, and it gets done in very abbreviated "open" hours for the offices involved.

Therefore, it appears that the only reason the Town Council is proposing a new town hall is because they want a new town hall!

Now, if you are convinced that the Town Council knows best what they are doing, you need not follow some of the rationale they are using and which will be shared in this spot over the next few weeks.

To join in the conversation, send to P.O. Box 68, Nelliston, NY 13410.

~ Thank You, Earl Spencer

Canajoharie - Fort Plain Drama Club presents the musical comedy 'Bye Bye Birdie'

by Elizabeth A. Tomlin

Once again, the Canajoharie - Fort Plain Drama Club has shown the immense scope of the talent of their members, with their recent presentation of the musical comedy 'Bye Bye Birdie'.

Written in 1957 by Mike Stewart, with music by Charles Strouse and lyrics by Lee Adams, the story was based on Elvis Presley's draft notice for the Army.

With Noah Watson playing the part of celebrity Conrad Birdie, A.J. Sullivan as his agent Albert Peterson and Cassie O'Neil as Albert's secretary/girlfriend Rosie Alvarez, the plot centers around a publicity stunt to save Albert from going bankrupt.

Fifteen-year-old Kim MacAfee, played by Zoe D'Arcangelis, is chosen at random from Birdie's fan club to receive "One Last Kiss", which is also the title of a song performed by Birdie (Watson) in the play. The small town of Sweet Apple and the MacAfee family, with Mrs. MacAfee played by Rachael Takacs, Mr. MacAfee played by Joshua Cechnicki and Christopher Murphy Jr. as Randolph, are up in arms and commotion ensues.

Dancing, singing and laughter all made the play a huge success.

"We were looking for a play with a story and plot that would appeal to all ages and had a lot of chorus numbers and involvement so we decided on this play," said Norma Bowley, who directed the play along with Ashley Broady and Mark Davidson. "We had no trouble figuring out who would take the lead roles, everything fell right into place!"

The cast and crew consisted of nearly 60 members and both Bowley and Davidson

A.J. Sullivan as Albert Peterson and Cassie O'Neil as Rosie Alvarez led the Canajoharie-Fort Plain Drama Club's cast in the musical comedy 'Bye Bye Birdie'.

A cast of more than 50 children and adults participated in the Canajoharie-Fort Plain Drama Club's presentation of the musical comedy 'Bye, Bye Birdie'.

remarked on how dedicated the members were, pulling the play together in the few short weeks allotted.

"We had auditions at the end of May and it was such a short time to get it all together!" said Bowley.

Bowley commented that there are an innumerable amount of things that worked bringing the play together.

"Thank you to all whom attended and to those who supported the drama club in other ways. We received generous monetary donations as well as loaned items that added to our beautiful set. Don's Electric loaned appliances. Chris Takacs of Fort Plain Antiques lent items, no one knows what all of the contributions were that created the end product! So many people did so much; it is impossible to list them all! Thank you to all of the cast, directors and crews! You start with a script and you end up with a living, breathing, humorous show!"

Performances were held in the Arkell Performing Arts Center at the Canajoharie High School.

The MacAfee family, consisting of Rachael Takacs, Josh Cechnicki, Chris Murphy and Zoe D'Arcangelis sing a song dedicated to Ed Sullivan during the Canajoharie-Fort Plain Drama Club's presentation of the musical comedy 'Bye, Bye Birdie'.

Rabies vaccination clinics for Aug. 5 and 16

Tuesday, Aug. 5: Palatine Town Barn, Stone Arabia Rd., Fort Plain, 6:30-7:30 p.m. and Saturday, Aug. 16: Rural Grove Fire Department, Route 162, Rural Grove, 9 a.m. to Noon. New York State Public Health Law requires that all dogs, cats and domestic ferrets shall have initial vaccinations administered against rabies no later than 4 months of age and stay up to date with re-vaccinations. Re-vaccinations are required one year later and a booster shot every three years. It is important to have pets vaccinated in a timely manner in order for the pet to be considered protected against the virus. Pet owners should bring proof of their pet's last rabies vaccination. This helps the veterinarian determine whether the pet will receive a one or three year vaccination; without it your pet will receive a one-year vaccination only. Veterinarian administration fee is $10 per rabies vaccine. To assure the safety of other pets and people; dogs must be leashed; cats and ferrets must be contained in a pet carrier or box when attending the rabies clinic.

For more information about rabies contact Montgomery County Public Health at 518-853-3531. Monday - Friday 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Whatchamacallits

This week's featured whatchamacallit was submitted by Ray M., who spotted this unique specimen hanging in his friend's garage.

This tool was manufactured in St. Louis, MO by Durbin Durco, a company started in 1913. They specialized in load securement and material handling products. This particular item is an example of a fence stretcher.

The fence stretcher could be used on a variety of fence types, such as barbed wire. With the help of this tool, users could easily and safely grasp wires to repair, alter or dismantle fences. The chain joins the two clamps. The user would hold onto the clamp's handles to manipulate the wires as needed for the project.

Thank you for the submission!

YOUR DEAL! You are asked to fill the blanks of the diagram at right with aces, kings, queens, jacks and tens so that there will be an ace-ten display of cards (not necessarily in sequential order) in each row across, down, and corner-to-corner diagonally.

Five card values shown are to remain in place.

See if you can puzzle out a solution within two minutes time. No fair peeking below.

HEAR THIS! Find post-storm traffic report if code word is BROADCAST and code is 1349 76288 93489 2345. P.S.: number code-word letters from 1 to 9, left to right.

MIS-INFORMED WORD TEST

LET'S see if you can handle the following MIS-information. That is to say, see if you can find six progressively longer words (see above) beginning with the letters MIS, in accord with these definitions:

- Fail to hit the target.
- Skinflint.
- Unlucky accident.
- Two and two is five, for example.
- Wrongly applied name.
- State flower of Oklahoma.

How quickly can you find the fitting words?

KID STUFF! These nursery rhyme kids are whooping it up right around home. Draw dot to dot to complete picture.

WHEEL THING! "Hey, Big Wheels, going my way?" Code: 1—Red. 2—Lt. blue. 3—Yellow. 4—Lt. brown. 5—Flesh tones. 6—Lt. green. 7—Orange. 8—Dk. green. 9—Dk. blue. 10—Lt. purple.

SPELLBINDER

SCORE 10 points for using all the letters in the word below to form two complete words:

AIRSPPEED

THEN score 2 points each for all words of four letters or more found among the letters.

Try to score at least 50 points.

Possible two-some: Speed, pair.

The Mortgage Process

Getting started

Mortgage rates are currently at 50-year lows; however, many eligible borrowers are reluctant to apply for a mortgage because of misinformation about getting one.

Applying for & getting your mortgage

Once you have selected your lender and type of mortgage, it is time to submit your application and get your loan approved.

Understanding your costs

Your lender is required by law to provide you with several important documents that help you determine — and understand — costs associated with obtaining your mortgage.

Make sure you know your overall costs and rights upfront.

What to expect at closing

You will sign many important documents at closing, the final step in the homebuying process when the property is legally transferred to your name.

Make sure to read each document thoroughly and ask questions so you understand legal implications of each one.

Safety will make you a happy camper

(MS) — Ah, nature. Besides the mosquitoes, nothing says summer like a getaway to the great outdoors.

As you wind down from the stress of packing up and driving to the cottage or campsite, the CSA Group, a leader in testing and certification, wants to remind you to stay safe on land and water this summer with these tips.

Boats and cottages

- Always wear a personal flotation device and never consume alcohol while operating any vehicle.
- Make sure that certified carbon monoxide (CO) and smoke alarms are properly installed outside all sleeping areas.
- When opening your cottage for the season, carefully inspect all appliances and electrical cords for damage from rodents or insects.
- Ensure boats and cottages are equipped with proper emergency safety equipment, including first aid kits and fire extinguishers.

CO and Smoke Alarms

- Carbon monoxide is a silent killer. To prevent CO poisoning, fuel-burning equipment should only be used in well-ventilated areas.
- Test each unit at least once a month because the threat doesn't take a vacation.
- Change the batteries at least twice a year. A good routine is to change them at the same time you reset your clocks for Daylight Saving Time.
- Be sure to use the correct type of batteries.
- Follow the manufacturer's detailed operating instructions.

Camping stoves and lanterns

- Fuel-burning equipment such as stoves, lanterns and cookers should only be lit outdoors and at least nine feet from tents, combustible materials and vehicles.
- Before use, carefully inspect parts for leaks, blockages or damage.

- Keep flammable clothing (and eyebrows) away from open flames, and carefully monitor children and pets around fuel burning devices.
- Before packing up equipment, make sure it is completely turned off and cool to the touch.

Don't forget the bug spray and sunscreen.

For more information on CSA Group visit www.csagroup.org.

Seniors willing to discuss driving abilities, yet conversations rarely happen

(BPT) — There are currently more than 23 million licensed drivers aged 70 and older, and with baby boomers beginning to reach 70 years of age, the number of seniors on the road will rise steadily over the next two decades.

A new survey released by Liberty Mutual Insurance finds that the majority of senior drivers are behind the wheel regularly, even with reported limited physical abilities. Though many seniors drive safely well into their later years, it's likely that they will eventually have to face the difficult decision to stop driving. While the majority of senior drivers surveyed are open to conversations about limiting or stopping their driving, only 6 percent have spoken with someone about their driving abilities.

The report reveals that despite declining physical abilities, many seniors still drive several times a week or even every day. In the past six months, the majority surveyed reported driving regularly despite slow reaction times, difficulty seeing or hearing, getting lost or feeling confused while driving.

While nearly all senior drivers would consider limiting or stopping their driving if presented with the right reason, most are hesitant about transitioning to the passenger seat. Top concerns among seniors about limiting or stopping driving include losing independence, becoming less active, difficulty finding alternative forms of transportation, and feeling isolated.

In 2013, Liberty Mutual Insurance conducted a survey of children of elderly drivers to determine if they were having conversations about driving with their aging parents, and if not, what was preventing them. The survey found that more than half of children with senior parents were concerned about their parents' driving abilities and safety, yet nearly one-third avoided initiating the conversation. However, this new report reveals that people may be avoiding conversations with aging drivers more than self-reported, while more seniors are actually open to talking:

- Only 6 percent of senior drivers report having had a discussion about their driving abilities, despite 84 percent saying that they would be open to talking about the issue.

- The majority of seniors who have not yet had a conversation report they would feel most comfortable being approached by their children or doctor.

- Seniors cite a doctor's recommendation and recognition of their own declining physical abilities as top reasons to limit or stop driving.

It's more important than ever for children and loved ones of senior drivers to have conversations about driving early and often, before it's time to stop. For additional tips on talking to loved ones about driving and resources for seniors when driving is no longer an option, visit www.LibertyMutual.com/senior-driving.

Despite declining physical abilities, many seniors still drive several times a week or even every day.

Simplify and save on your wedding

Planning a wedding is complicated. Once couples choose a date and location for their ceremony, they can then get down to the nuts and bolts of the big day.

When planning a wedding, many couples are governed by a budget. Budgets often get stretched, but even those brides- and grooms-to-be who spend more than they had initially hoped often find themselves not going too far over budget. One of the best ways for couples to stay within spitting distance of their budget or even come in under budget is to take steps to simplify the ceremony and reception. Simplifying a few aspects of the wedding can save couples money without forcing them to make sacrifices that affect the look or feel of occasion.

- Turn floral arrangements into multi-purpose accessories. Bridesmaids typically carry beautiful floral bouquets during the wedding ceremony.

But such bouquets are quickly put down and forgotten once a couple has officially tied the knot. Couples can save a few dollars by repurposing floral bouquets and other floral arrangements used during the ceremony. Once the ceremony has ended, repurpose floral bouquets as centerpieces for the reception tables and turn flowers used as aisle markers during the ceremony into small centerpieces on the escort card table or place them alongside the guestbook. This saves you the trouble of choosing various floral arrangements to display throughout the reception venue and also saves you money.

- Scale back on the alcohol offerings. Some couples opt for a full-service, top-shelf bar at their wedding. While that's a nice gesture, it's also an expensive one. Couples can save a substantial amount of money by simplifying the alcoholic offerings at their reception.

Instead of a full top-shelf bar, offer guests one or two choices of popular liquors such as whiskey, rum and vodka and steer clear of especially expensive brands. The majority of guests likely won't even notice, but couples will notice how much money they save.

- Choose a classic cake. Elaborate cakes may be de rigueur, but the cost of an especially elaborate wedding cake can make a cost-conscious couple's collective jaw drop. Instead of a specially designed, labor-intensive cake, choose a classic cake that won't break the bank. Classic cakes can add an elegant touch to a wedding without extending a couple's budget.

- Trim the guest list. Trimming the guest list is arguably the most effective way to simplify a wedding while simultaneously saving some money. Once you have compiled a list of potential invitees, peruse that list to determine if there are any people who can be trimmed from the list. This is easier for couples paying for their own wedding, as they won't feel pressured to invite any friends or colleagues of their parents whom they don't know personally. But even couples splitting the cost of their weddings with their parents should speak with their parents about trimming the guest list to make the affair a little less expensive.

Traditional weddings are anything but simple. But there are ways for couples to make planning their wedding less complicated while saving some money at the same time.
